deal is of a great deal of impor tance to this city and has created great excitement in commercial as well as rail-road circles. By clever manipulation the officials of the Santa Fe system have practically secured control of the bonds of the California and Nevada Rallway and as soon as the litigation over that concern in the State and Federal Courts is settled, the Santa Fe will be enabled to assume control of the most available railway terminal directly into the city of gauge from narrow to broad and the construction of three-quarters of a mile between the two roads. Complete plans construction of a wharf and ferry system are already in existence and been that purch the wharf has been partially constructs clated the value ed The only drawback is the necessary expenditure of several million dollars and this, it is understood, the Santa Fe is not now ready to undertake.

The California and Nevada Rallway was incorporated by local capitalists fif-teen years ago, and it was the original intention to have it run between Oakland Sonora and Bodie mining dis-was completed to Orinda Park, about twenty miles from this city. The road never paid, and when Captain Smith dled his son. C. H. Smith, threw the matter into the courts by bringing foreclosure suits, and after hard fight he succeeded in having Cap-tain C. K. King of this city appointed as receiver. Since then frequent charges of fraud and much litigation has resulted and this has done much to injure the sale of the road, notwithstanding its valuable right of way. During these proceedings A. A. Grant, the holder of a few bonds, came upon the scene and his influence with Charles H. Smith resulted in his appointment as receiver to succeed C. K. King, who resigned. Then, by clover financeering Grant secured control of Smith's bonds and he is now in a position to turn the road over to the Santa Fe, a proceeding which those who know his close connection with that corporation do not doubt he will do when the time comes.

Mr. Grant was the contractor who built nearly all of the Atlantic and Pacific Railway and a large portion of the mile-age of the Santa Fe system in Southern California. He is a man of large fortune and influence in the railway world, and his associations with the Santa Fe Railroad are so close as to leave no doubt as to what his possession of the California and Nevada Railway bonds may mean. In discussing the matter, Mr. Grant said:

"The California & Nevada Railway has been so much talked about that ever the children on the streets of Oakland discuss its value and its future. It is undoubtedly a valuable terminal property, but it has not yet been absorbed by the Santa Fe Railroad Company. What might happen, I cannot say. It is true that I have taken the position of receiver of the road, but I do not think that that has any special signification. I am not operating the railroad and am doing nothing but awaiting the result of pending litigation. It is true that negotiations have been pending with the Santa Fe Railroad, but it is obvious that no conclusion can be reached until the title to the road is settled. Nothing will be or can be done until the court renders its decision. That will settle the exact question of title, and until then no more can be done. There are many things that may develop, and I am not prophet enough to make predictions. I THINK THAT THE SANTA FE SYSTEM CAN THE ROAD WHEN IT WANTS

Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. Some time ago Mr. Grant was placed in control of the road by appointment as receiver and he has now secured control of the bonds of the road. He is, therefore, in an excellent position to turn over the property to the Santa Fe Company whenever that corporation may deem it necessary.

The present line of the California and Nevada Railway runs within three-quarters of a mile of the line of the Santa Fe cystem approaching Point Richmond. The right of way and franchises of the California and Nevada into Oakland are complete and all that the Santa Fe would be required to do to make Oakland its terminal would be the changing of the constructed into the various rack (especially if terminal would be the changing of the constructed into the various valleys be.

"No religious service, they say, is complete without taking up a collection; surely no expression of dutiful regard is significant unless it involves the attitude of willing self-sacrifice. We know what we love; it is that for which we are willing to make sacrifice. Through the alchemy of love the pain of loss is transmuted into the joy of bestowal. Pain and joy, loss and gain, death and life meet and join hands by the altar of sacrifice. "You love your university, but that love finds its consciousness not when you receive from it, but when you give to it. It is a benediction upon life to have learned to love a noble thing. All that life has in it worth living for is summarized in love and service, in service and love. It is our affect as that make us, and well it is for us. In those affections fasten themselves upon great and worthy and noble objects, such as your college is. You cannot live nobly without loving nobly, but you cannot love if you cannot serve and give. Student Harrison S. Robinson spoke at the Library as fellows:

"The football field and the library are the two great centers of University life, and the library has this advantage—that its athletes are always in training. Probably but few more classes will bid farewell at this identical building. Let no one retard the march of progress, but in its whirl and bustle let us not forget the gratitude due to those who so generously and wisely laid the foundation stones on which the superstructure must rest, if it would stand at all. Under the splendid buildings that will be erected these basal blocks will some day be hidden from view, but by the students of today and of all the yesterdays the oid lexagon grunnashum with its well rosined floor and the red brick library with its white faced clock and its Prince of Silence will be the most happily and gladly remembered. But nevertheless we must have a new library.

"Our class has set aside a small sum as the nucleus of what will be called the class of 1900 library fund. This money is to be placed at interest for a period of years, and finally, after it has increased sufficiently, and at a time when we liope the members of the class will have been able to add to it from their private means, the income is to be used in the purchase of books for the greater library of the greater University.

(Then Mr. Bradley performed a series of marvelous experiments upon ordinary hens' eggs which had been chemically treated by some of the geniuses of the class.)

"Here is an egg which has been kept in vacuo for nearly a year and subjected to varying temperaturus by means of boiling water and pounded ica. Under these stimulating environments the vital principle has greatly expanded, so that as I now hold it this egg is under enormous pressure and would require but the slightest tap to explode it and to liberate the imprisoned creature within, whatever that may be. To prevent accidents I will cover it with this box and endeavor to hatch it. (Here the speaker put a box over the egg and tapped it. There was a loud explosion. He lifted the box and disckwed a cat.) There you see the result yourself. As you can readily understand, by changing the environment you can produce almost anything. The other day an egg was hatched, just an ordinary rejected hard-beide Easter egg, painted green besides, and a splendid Belgian hare was found with a pedigree dating back for more than two centuries. Unfortunately one of those yellow candy Easter eggs was being treated in the same box at the same time as the Belgian hare, and hatched out a yellow dog. The dog killed the hare and escaped, leaving nothing but a few scattered hairs and a Belgian fairy tale." Miss Alice Duffy also spoke at East Hall.

The ecremony was favored by beautiful weather and attracted a very large assemblage, including the chief officials of the Exposition both Franch and foreign. Every paracies of space within the building was occupied, while a big crowd gathered around the pavilion in the Rue des Nations and on the terrace. In front of the edited looking on the Scine. The exterior and particularly the interior of the building were gaily decorated with the Stars and Stripes and the tri-color.

The ceremony of transferring the pavilion was quite simple, consisting of an address by Ferdianad W. Deck, Commissioner of the United States, handing over the pavilion to M. Alfred Picurd, as the Commissioner-General of the Exposition, and the actor's response in accepting the transfer. Mr. Peck had arrived at the payllien about 2 o'clock to await the arrival of M. Pic. R. Who, executed by B. D. Woodward, assistant United States Commissioner, entered the Exposition rate at the invalides bridge at 220 o'clock and proceeded immediately along the Quai de Orsay to the entrance of the American building which faces the Scine. After a brief glance at the equestrian statue of Washington which guards the portals of the American National Paylion. M. Picatel assended the steps leading to the door. Here Mr. Peck stood surrounded by the nambers of the United States Commission, and as he welcomed the French Commissioner General, Sousa's band struck up the "Marsellaise," Mi the spectators at once uncovered, and amid the strains of the French hymn M. Addressing M. Pleand, Mr. Peck said:

Mr. Peck here presented M. Pleard with a gold key and pendant representing the pavilion, as a souvenir, and concluded with the words "I know my countrymen will join me in the sentiment 'Vive Le Exposition Universelle de 1900! 'Vive La France!'

The house is as nearly perfect, for its size and cost, as experience and skill could make it. On the first floor are, hall, reception room, library, dining room and kitchen, besides pantry and butler's pantry. The hall and library are panelled to the cove of the ceiling in selected curly redwood, which, when polished, produces some of the handsomest effects to be found in natural wood finish. The reception room is also finished in curly redwood, with plastered walls and high baseboards. The library is warmed at once and ornamented by an open fire place in Roman brick. The dining room is wainscoted in Douglas fir, the mantel and sideboard being built to correspond with the finish of the room. This room is warmed by a gas grate opening into a flue; the most satisfactory means of securing a quick, temporary heat. Adjoining the dining room is a handsome lavatory. CARMEN STRIKE IN KANSÅS CITY.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12.—As predicted, a strike was ordered early this morning on all the street car lines of the Metropolitan Railway Company. About 500 of the 1,500 conductors, motormen and gripmen of this city and Kansas City, Kansas, responded.

Not enough men on any one line struck to have any appreciable effect on the running of cars on the main lines. Many men not members of the union are joining, however, since the strike leaders have taken a stand, and it seems likely that a general tie-up will result before the day is closed. Beyond hisses and epithets hurled at the men who took out cars, the strikers did not resort to any disturbance during the morning.

The order to strike was issued after a series of all-night meetings of the men, presided over by Harry Bryan, organizer of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America.

LODI. May 12.—Rain during the past week has played havoc with the cherries in the fruit belt in this end of San Joaquin county. At any rate cherry growers are blue over the prospects, for a very large crop is on the trees.

OF TROUBLE.

There may be some complications in the relations of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Peek in a few days that will require straightening out.

About two years ago Mrs. Peek instituted proceedings for a divorce. She had then been married to Deek about a year. She charged her hasband with having beaten her and on one occusion of having threatened her life with a dirk knife. Fearing that she wordt lose her life if she continued to live with her husband, she sgainst her husband, Aionzo W. Fink witch has been productive of many sensitional features, was argued before Judge Hall today. As hereofore during the tried of the case, the hearing was conducted behind closed doors. Attorneys George W. Reed and A. L. Flik appeared on behalf of Fink. Attorney H. C. McPike represents Mrs. Fink.

Before the arguments were commenced Mrs. Fink was put on the witness stand to testify in regard to a picture taken on the Santa Cruz beach about three years ago. The picture showed Mrs. Fink with a young man. Mrs. Fink testified that the young man was a friend of the daughter.

The son, A. Walter Fink, was called to the stand to offer some further testimony on behalf of his mother. He testified that his father had shown considerable temper toward him and had discharged him from his employ several times.

Through cross-examination it was shown that the son had exasperated his father by taking too much time at the noon hour for lunch.

In the arguments much of the testimony brought out during the trial was rehearsed.

MarcGowan went to his home in Maine, but his parents had disowned him because of his service with the Southern army. Having no home, young MacGowan thirted from place to place, finally setting in Mexico, where he engaged in mining, and succeeded by thrift and hard work in accumulating a fortune of $100,000. He remained a bachelor. Through friends he learned of the death of his parents and by the same means of the existence of a sister he had never seen. Recently MacGowan was seized with a desire to meet his sister, as he felt himself alone in the world and with no relative to whom he could leave his fortune. After a considerable search he finally located his sister in Alameda. He wrote to her, proffering a gift of $10,00° if she would join him at a small town a short distance from the City of Mexico and make her home with him. Miss MacGowan hesitated, but when a telegram reached her urging her to come she decided to go and, took a hurried departure from her charges at the Longfellow School.

INTERFERED IN THE FAMILY. A South-Side young man walked into a Thirty-first confectionary store to purchase some candy the other evening. A the woman behind the counter was walting upon him he noticed a girl of perhaps ten years of age enter the store. The newcomer was hatless, her shoes were out at the toes, and she shivered under the seant folds of a thin shawl. The child looked at the tempting candy display with such a yearning look in her eyes that the heart of the young man was touched. When he came to pay for his candy he put two 25-cent pieces into the woman's hand instead of one. "Why," exclaimed the woman, "what is all this for?"
"Oh, give the girl some candy with the "Wny," exclaimed the woman, "what is all this for?"

And the young man gathered up his quarter and his candy and hastened out of the store without venturing another word.—Chicago Journal.

A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT.

Governor Shaw of Iowa had amusing experiences with newspaper men during a recent visit down East.

"One reporter," he said, "referred to me as 'a dapper little old man;' another said my clothes didn't fit me, and that I was 'no orator, according to classical standards,' but the funniest compliment I ever received was during the campaign last fall in my own State. After I had made a speech before a crowd that had gathered to hear a debate between Jim Weaver and myself, an old farmer pushed his way through to where I stood, grasped my hand, and said, with every indication of sincere admiration:

""Governor, that was a fine speech—am excellent speech! Do you know, you remind me very strongly of Abraham Lincoln in your powers of illustration! Of course you are a better looking man than Lincoln was.' Then stepping back and taking another look at me from head to feet, and evidentily intending to emphasize the compliment, he added: 'Birt not much, either!'"—Omaha Bee. A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT. It would be better to trap these, however, and sell them allve for the benefit of the park.

Then the coyotes kill the young antelopes and are warred against, but I very much fear the broncho white man of the adjacent regions is the worst of all. If it were possible to have him killed, it would be a good thing for the rest of the population of the United States. The panther, the bear and the coyote can be excused, but the white man is a selfish brute, who knows he is doing wrong.—Frederick Remington, in Collier's Weekly.

Arnold followed with a ten minute talk on "The Juniors," which was followed by an interesting address on "Training for Service." A vocal solo by Mrs. R. C. Brooks was followed by an address on "Our Conquering Covenant," by Alfred W. Hare. Another hymn closed the afternoon session.

At half-past six o'clock the delegates and their friends partook of a basket lunch served in the Sunday School room, over which Rev. C. M. Hill presided. At the conclusion of the lunch the following committees read their reports; Prayer Meeting Committee, Rev. Paul M. Spencer: Lookout Committee, Mrs. J. A. The evening session convened at 7:20 with a praise and devotional service led by Rev. M. Halsey. The County Transportation Committee, composed of H. J. Waters, E. C. Lyon and Lionel S. Rodgers, reported on the Stockton Convention. The subscance of their talks was that the Alameda delegation would leave for Stockton on specially chartered cars from the foot of Broadway at 11:20 o'clock Thursday morning. Tickets must be secured from E. C. Lyon between now and Monday evening. G. H. Wheeler of the State Transportation Committee was present and made a short address.

A sopramo solo by Miss Jessie Barstow was followed by an address by Rev. J. R. Knodel on the "Dangers That Menace the Fulire of Christian Endeavor Usefulness." The following letter has been received by School Superintendent McClymonds from Professor Burckhalter of Chabot Observatory, who is now in Georgia, where he has gone to take observations of the total eclipse of the sun, which will occur at that point shortly:

A certain popular minister of a Highland parish preached the other day on the duty of unqualified truthfuness, and was little surprised to receive a visit from a parishioner next day who was well known to the gaugers as a maker of "sma" still whisky. "I have come to thank you for your sermon yesterday," he said. "I will aye speak the truth after this."

"I am glad to hear you say that," said the minister.

MOUNTAIN LIONS IN YELLOWSTONE PARK.

There is a strong regulation regarding the absolute letting alone of wild things in the park. It is a proper intention to let nature take its course, but still, when the superintendent clearly sees that a band of mountain itons will surely ent up all the mountain sheep in a very short time, it becomes necessary for the aforesaid official to thwart the law of the mountain; also when a big grizzly gets to mixing up socially with the tourists, Captain Brown has to step in in favor of the latter, though I am not sure of the wisdom of this.

When these contingencies arise, the two scouts, Whittaker and Morrison, gird themselves with rifle and ski and proceed to equalize things, during which these two young men have some very exciting experiences. Last winter they killed five mountain lions at one time. So far this year, Whittaker hus bagged three and is still hunting. As he has written. "I had a very narrow escape with these three mountain lions. I was trailing the first one, when I came to a large tree. I could not see any trail, so was looking around, when I heard a queer noise up in the tree. I looked up, and there he was, not fifteen feet from me, just getting ready to spring. I shot him in the shoulder while he was in the air.

"The second one I trailed to the top of a hill, walking along with my head down, when I happened to look up, and there he was not five feet from me, coming out from behind a rock. Just about twenty feet from him were three more. When I fired they ran away. Lieutenant Yates and myself tracked the third to a cave in the rocks. He immed at us, and we shot him in the air while he was springing at us. He measured seven feet nine inches."

This is the simple story of the man who did the thing. This is the way the soldlers are working to keep the Yellowstone Park for posterity. It is a pity the lions can't be allowed to live, but they are too expensive.

Now and then the death sentence goes forth against some overconfident grizzly— HOW DOCTORS BARN BIG FEES. How bottoms EARN BIG FEES.

The doctor and some of the reporters were talking in the little room opposite the telephone office at Bellevue Hospital.

"I see by the papers," said the doctor, mentioning the story of a large bill reported to have been sent in by a surgeon of the city, "that this doctor didn't feel satisfied with $4,000. He thought he ought to have $4,600. That's a rather fine distinction, perhaps, but it all depends on the sort of a case which the surgeons treated. A man with his skill and his standing can charge almost anything he can't be allowed to live, but they are too expensive.

Now and then the death sentence goes forth against some overconfident grizzly—always with great reluctance. When one has borne down the fortifications of the hotel meat-houses time and again, he, too, becomes aggressive and his pelt comes in. "The way in which some physicians earn large fees is curious. I recall one case of the sort—or, at least, a story of a case, for I won't vouch for the truth of it all. A man had been suffering for some time with gastritis, and had been treated for more than a year by several physicians. The usual treatment is to put the patient on a milk diet. That usually does the work, but this man kept growing worse. He finally summoned Dr. B., lone of the best known physicians of the city. When Dr. B. learned the history of the case he took one long look at the man's face, and reached for his hat.

"I need time to think it over,' he said. You meet me too morrow at Delmondo's, and I'll prescribe treatment of some sort and I'll prescribe treatment of some so "It turned out that the doctor was tight. The man who had been nearly dead was soon in good health. Then the physician sent in his bill. It was for $4.000. When the man received it, he hurried around to the doctor's office.

"By thunder," said the man. 'Do you think I'm made of money? I can pay it all right, but, now, honestly, doctor, don't you think it's pretty large?"

The invalids coach is, to all appearances, tike an ordinary carriage. On Monday bids are to be opened for the performance of the work that Mr. Heidmaier failed to carry out. It is said nine bidders are figuring upon the proposition, of whom five are from this part of the State. We hope one of them is awarded the contract, and it seem to us, in view of the break-down of this noted Chicago builder's efforts, that the Government should make an effort to send the award this way. The money will then be kept in California, will pay California engineers and laborers and will do the State some good, which would not be the case were it to go to swell the bank-roll of a capitalist in Illinois or any other part of the country.

While the Government is about it, too, such arrangements ought to be made as will compel the contractors, whoever they may be, to use due diligence in the execution of the work. Such a breakwater as is contemplated for San Pedro cannot be built in a day, to be sure, but it ought to be constructed without a repetition of the scandalous delay that has characterized the work up to date. That San Pedro harbor is going to be such an enormous source of revenue to them as our Los Angeles friends think, we do not believe, and we think the money could be sperit to better advantage in the completion of the tidal canal between the estuary and the bay of San Leandro: but when the Government decides to do a thing and orders it to be canried out the orders should be obeyed. That so far has not been done at San Pedro.

NOW FOR THE BONDS.

Now that the report of the Citizens and ready for presentation to the Coun cil, the last of the preliminaries can be said to be out of the way and it rests with the municipal body to take up the work and carry it through to a conclusion. The opportunities for delay are, we trust, all ended and if the present Council wants to make the most popular movit has attempted since its inception, it will push the project to the front and keep it there until the issue is fought out at the polls.

While it is true that differences of opinon exist as to the various improvements that should be made, it is to be hoped TRIBUNE are situated at 230 to 234 Temple Court, New York City, and at 217 and for them. Oakland would undoubtedly

RAILROAD TAXES.

County Tax Collector Baiber has made his settlement with County Treasurer Feidler for the tax collections of the year, the sum of $200,00 in round numbers being turned over. The delinquency foots up to about $42,000. As usual the Southern Pacific has refused to pay the tax upon the Seventh street local and some other minor holdings which were piaced on the county rolls by Assessor Dalton, in all, the railroad utilowed its taxes to the amount of about $10,000 to go delinquent. The total delinquency is about the same as in past years. As in past years.
HUNTINGTON'S TALK.

HUNTINGTON'S TALK.

A question which has been frequently asked and not yet satisfactorily answered is: "Who are the three or four buyers that have in the past eight or ten months picked up large vacant lots in the wholesale discrict?" says the Examiner. It has been assumed that these gentlemen have not bought for themselves and it has been presumed that the real buyer was either the Santa Fe or the Southern Pacific Company. There is, however, nothing but supposition behind the assumption on the one shand and the presumption on the other. When the facts are finally known it is more than likely that neither railroad company nor any of the sub-companies of either is the buyer. "I am not buying any property in the locality mentioned," said C. P. Huntington yesterday. "The Southern Pacific Company is not buying The morning." ton yesterday. paper which says that I, personally, or that the railroad is purchasing land in that part of town is in error. It is hardly reasonable to suppose, however, that the paper knows more of my business or that of the railroad than I do.

"It is said I had some fiden of landing passengers of the railroad at the Palace. That is news to me. Manager Kirkpatrick of the Palace doubtless is not aware how close an escape his hotel had from becoming a passenger station.

"The only property of late I remember the railroad to have bought was down in the Mission Bay district. As far as I know now the company has no idea of abandoning its Third and Townsend street passenger action or the adjacent freight yards. They constitute good terminals. I am satisfied with them and have not thought of securing others in the part of town the newspaper story speaks about. The completion of the out-off south from Fourth and Townsend to San Bruno may bring about some changes in the way of an improvement and calargement of the terminals for passengers and freight. But the newspaper in question is not in on the proposed changes. In fact, I don't know just what may or may not be done, and I am not bothering about the matter just now. When changes are needed they will be made."

GETTING EVEN WITH A TEMPER-ANCE LECTURER. "A certain temperance apostle with a national reputation," said A. D. The latter had a weateness for the red, red wine, that about once a year overcame his resolution. At all other times he was sober and upright and attended to his business. His amiable weakness was known and condoned by the community in which he lived, for he was an able, generous and philanthropic man and a good citizen as west. But to his next door neighbor it was a continued end ever-present grief, and he never lost an opportunity to exhort the raikroad man on the sinfuiness of firs ways and to beg him to mend them before it was too late. The railroad man stood it manufully and never by word or look showed resemtment, for he was fond of his neighbor. A strong arm assisted him to his feet, his disarray was set right, and his hat restored to him by the railway man, who then with the words, 'Roe, I never dreamt that you of all men would have been guilty of such a thing. I wouldn't have seen it for the world,' hurried down the street before the other could get his breath to make reply, and ever since the temperate one has essayed an explanation instead of a lecture when he meets the railroad man, to which the latter only vouchsafes a pitying smile and shake of the head and gives other evidences of disbelief that drive the explainer weilnigh distracted."—New York Tribune. philanthropic man and a good citizen as well. PEORIA, Ill., May 12.—News is received PEORIA, Ill., May 12.—News is received here that former President Ratchford of the Mine Workers' Union of the United States has resigned his position with the labor commission. Accompanying the report is the assertion that President Mc-Kinley has intimated that he would be pleased to consider the name of some brotherhood man that the railroad employes of the country would endorse. The railroad men are inclined to endorse either Grand Master Frank P. Sargent or Grand Secretary and Treasurer Frank W. Arnold for the place.

Josiah E. Phillips Fools Low Prices Will Rule Unless the Growers Combine, Josiah E. Phillips, a stonecutter, has been arrested at Raymond, Madera country, on a felony charge sworn to by Miss Kade Dole of this city, who accuses him of betrayal under promise of marriage.

The records at the County Clerk's office show that on March 10th a marriage license was fesued to Josiah E. Phillips, a resident of San Franckeo, aged 3 years.

This dicense was never used, but was symply secured by Phillips to fool the girl.

Miss Dole is the daughter of Mr. and oring to get control of 90 per cent. The officers believe if this percentage is obtained the whole surplus can be markettained the whole surplus can be marketed at not less than 3 cents. It is thought that the surplus can be placed in foreign markets at a small differential, much less than if the surplus is to be worked off in the home market. If the surplus is retained at home it must be disposed of as a by-product, and this is a constant menace to the price.

Only one week more and the tale will be told. At that time the association fails or wins, depending on the acreage signed. At the headquarters of the association today it was stated that some acreage was coming in, but that the association was still much short of the necessary percentage.

FAREWELL DINNER TO

D. EDWARD COLLINS.

A farewell dinner was given last evening at the Metropole to D. Edward Collins, who is about to start on a trip to Europe. About fifteen guests were present, and a number of farewell speeches were made. At the close all joined in wishing Mr. Collins a pleasant voyage and a happy return.

FAST SAILING STEAMSHIPS.

Twenty-five years ago The Engineeer of London, the recognized authority on all matters pertaining to steamship navigation, made the prediction that the crossing of the Atlantic ocean by a steamship at the speed of twenty-five miles an hour was one of the things impossible of accomplishment. At that time the Atlantic had never been crossed by a screw steamer at as high a speed as fifteen miles an hour; the Cunarder Scotia, the last of the big sidewheelers never doing better than an average of fourteen am three-quarter knots. Therefore the prophecy of The Engineer was not at all a wild one. But teday there are steamers that have reached the speed of twenty-five miles an hour, and others are in construction which are expected to surpass fit. The fastest liner of today has done more than an average of twenty-five miles. Her normous engines and powerfal propellers, mighty powers of propulsion, have forced her through the roughest waters of the Atlantic at an average

MOST VALUABLE STAMP IN THE WORLD.

It is of interest to stamp collectors to know that the most valuable stamp in the world is one lately discovered—a onethe world is one lately discovered—a one-permy postoffice Mauritius, for which recently £1,000 was paid in London. W. If. Beckitt heaght it from a stamp dealer, who placed a value of £1,500 on it at first. It will be of further interest to know what prices have been paid for stamps of this class, which are very rare and are at long intervals on the market. A Mr. Tapling, whose collection is now owned by the British Museum, paid £75 for a "one-penny postoffice" in 1822. In 1890 £220 was asked and obtained for a two-penny stamp of the same class, at the London Exposition. In 1823 Stanley Gibbons paid for a pair of unused one and two penny stamps £680. In 1879 Jues Bernichon paid £70,000 francs for a pair of these stamps in Paris.—New York Herald.

A TURN IN THE WHEEL OF FOR-A TURN IN THE WHIEEL OF FORTUNE.

A decade or two ago it was the pretty fashion for adventurous young peonle who had just been married to take walking tours along the white roads of France or through the green world of Northern Italy. The bicycle killed all that. Now, in turn, the automobile has superseded the whoel.

W. K. Vanderbilt Jr. has been telling friends in Paris about the joyous jaunts that he and his bride, who was Miss Virginia. Fair, took in the south of France on their teufteuf. They started from Nice and journeyed to Biarritz and back again. It was a three-weeks trip, for they traveled as pleased them best. Here they would stop at a wayside inn, stable the automobile, and spend a day or two living the life of the peasants, and then their machine, with the inevitable contrariety of inanimate things, would break down. Three times this happened. Then, if Mr. Vanderbilt could not tinker it up himself, the young couple would push the machine on to the next town. All these adventures, and many others, should be pleasant to remember in the days when they "go no more a-roving." For, after all, the best of life is looking back.—Vance Thompson's Letter in Philadelphia Post.

Just a Loaf of Bread Bread may be the staff of life, but H. S. Jones, the expressman, has a loaf especially baked for a picnic party tomorrow that may be appropriately called a flag pole. It is 9 feet 4 inches in actual bright undoubtedly the longest ever produced in the tSate.

The electric lights were all embedded in lotus blossoms of pink and yellow and the whole scheme was as beautiful as possible. It will be certain to create a furor in New York. As for cards the swellest party for a long time was that given by Miss Gertrude Allen on Friday night, last week. It was very large and really a very pretty affair, but the young hostess was very much worried and annoyed by the late arrival of some of her guests. The men were the worst offenders in this respect, which was really quite inexcusable. It seems to me that when the cards say "Fight o'clock," ten o'clock is a trifle late, what do you think? The result was that there were very few rounds of cards as the hostess had planned dancing as a secondary amusement. The late men almost spoiled what was a very charming

DO YOU NEED BUILDING UP?

You may be a large eater and yet be weak and not weigh as much as you should. This is because you do not receive proper nourishment from your diet. If you wish to be strong and increase in weight, take Johann Hoff's Malt Extract with your meals. It will create good appetite, assist the proper digestion of food and cause it to be easily assimilated; you will then obtain from your diet the largest amount of nourishment.

JOHANN HOFF'S

MALT EXTRACT is not only a true nutritive tonic, but is also a food in itself.

Dr. H. B. Buterbaugh, of Indiana, Pa., writes: "Have used Johann Hoff's Malt Extract with very satisfactory results. I have one patient who began to use it about six weeks ago. His weight then was 95 pounds. He now weighs 148 pounds and is strong and healthy."

Don't be micled by cheap substitutes. Get the genuine Johann Hoff's and you will not be disappointed.

A REASON FOR IT.

There is Only One Pile Cure That Has Reached a National Popularity and Reputation.

There are many popular medicines that re known in every household in America. There are blood purifiers, nerve tonics, eadache remedies, dyspepsia cures, and cough cures, which are sold in every drug store in the nation and beyond.

But all of these must divide their popularity with many rivals; no one remedy has the field to itself, with the single exception of pile cures, for it is a singular fact but there is but one pile cure that can be considered as having a national reputation without a rival, and the cure which for seven years has steadily worked into the public favor by reason of its extraordinary merit, until it is known from Maine to California and from Manitoba to the gulf.

It is true there are many pile remedies having a small local reputation for a year or two, but the Pyramid Pile Cure has rapidly supplanted them all and really has the field to itself when anything that grand medicine called Acker's English Remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles. It saves children every time when they are attacked by croup. Every mother should know about it, and I will tell about my experience. I had a darling boy of four years to die with croup. My doctor did all he could, but the child could not be made to vomit. That was before I knew of Acker's English Remedy. After I did hear of it, I got a bottle. When our little eighteen-months old girl was stricken with croup, I gave her this medicine, and inside of twenty minutes she vomited and was better right away. During the winter she had croup four times, and it brought her through each time all right. I, myself, had bronchitis pretty bad, and Acker's English Remedy cured me completely.

"IS God's Good Blessing"

Before I close, I want to tell you of my neighbor's boy, named Jobe Nana. He had bronchitis, too. He got worse all the time. My husband went over to his house and told him about my worse all the time. My nusband went over to his house and told him about my case. Then his mother went to town, got a 50-cent bottle of Acker's English Remedy, and he took it. He came over to our house a few days later and said a was all right, and also said two doses relieved him from the start. You can understand by my letter why I think so much of Acker's English Remedy. I repeat that God's blessing must surely have been bestowed upon Dr Acker."

The result of this excellent judgement on his part is that after a fight extending over three or four weeks Grant has quit, thus leaving the road clear for his Los Augelleaving the road clear for his Los Augeles rival. The hand of L. E. Mosher has figured very prominently in the developments for he was in a position to do the the right kind of work. In Senator two applicant two applicant two applicant can be carried to the can be considered to the can be can dacy, Mosher then assuming a prominent place in the Grant council and remainng one of the cabinet to the end. REFORMERS ROUTED.

As for what was to have been the star event of the convention—the struggle over the election of a new State central committee-it is already apparent that there will be practically no fight at all, for the reformers have scarcely a kopje left to stand on. At first sight it might seem strange that the apparently powerful reorganization committee selected the night of the Bard banquet could accomplish nothing, but it requires little investigation to see why such was the case. The trouble was the old one that invarlably prevails when a reform movement reaches its flood tide-each man connected with it is jealous of his neighbor and there is no pulling together. On the other hand the members of the old guard invariably stand pat and do just as some chosen commander tells them, the result being that they are working in unison the others are scattering their strength and not seeking a common

It can therefore be regarded as a sure thing that the elements that have controlled the party during the past few years will remain dominant in the future, for no matter how thorough and farreaching the effect of the primary law may be there can be no gainsaying the fact that the organization controls the situation in the all-important matter of making up the tickets. Those therefore who expect to ride to victory in the office-seeking campaign of 1903 will have to trim their sails so as to catch the breezes manipulated by what some people term the "machine," though they will of course stand an even better chance if they can secure the gusts of hot air sent out every once in a while by the so-called rethe tunnel after the accident became the scene of wild excitement. No me could approach nearer than within 200 fort of either opening, owing to the volume of flame and smoke which issued the form. The fast New York bound express freight train of thirty-eight cars reached the tunnel on time and slowed down so that some of the cars could be shifted. The second section of the same train composed of thirty-rine cars, was due about ten minutes later. It was Tow-rman Lantel's duty to signal the second section, as the first had stooped in the tunnel. This Lantel failed to do, having, it is said, fallen asleep. The second section approached the tunnel at a rapid rate of speed and crashed with full force into the dirst section. Engineer Loeb and Fireman Hinchman of the second section were immediately crushed to death and the cars, piled in an indiscriminate mass, began to bure. Four oil cars exploded, feeding the flames. A fire alarm was sent in and firemen immediately began an endeavor to extinguish the flames. No attempt was made to secure the bodies of the dead, as it was impossible to get near the point where they lay. The loss to the company is estimated at $140,000.

Four firemen who were the most seriously trijured are:

John McKernan, burns and internal injuries.

Joseph Davis, burned.

John McKernan, burns and internal injuries.
Joseph Davis, burned.
Charles Raw, burned.
Twenty-one freemen have been treated for minor injuries.
Each of the oil cars contained about 4,000 galions, and the burning oil spread with great rapidity to the other cars. The point where the collision occurred is about midway in the tunnel. The latter is about 2,800 feet long and extends along Twenty-fifth street to the edge of Fairmount Park, close to the famous Washington monument at the Green street park entrance.
Up to noon the fire was not under control and the firemen were experiencing the greatest difficulty in fighting the fames. Dense volumes of smoke poured from both ends of the tunnel and holes cut through, and the firemen could penetrate but a short distance before they were forced ito return. Several attempts were made to reach the spot where the bodies are believed to be located, but without success, and it is the opinion that they have been burned beyond hope of being identified.

Day Watchman George J. Robertson is authority for ithe statement that Operator Lantel was asleep at his post.

TYPICAL CRIMINALS.

Lomboroso and the Italian school say that they have discovered a type of man who is born a criminal and who may be recognized by Mongolian face, abnormal features, ill-shaped ears, unsymmetrical skull and various psychical peculiarities, which are result of bad organization. This doctrine is illustrated by descriptions of criminals who have the abnormalties, and in the hands of skillful writers the case is made plausible, says "Appletons Popular Science Monthly."

The theory is in harmony with so much popular modern thought, which loosely interprets the doctrines of evolution by a crass materialism, that it has infected American prison literature, while it has never misled those men to whom practical experience has given the most right to have an opinion on the subject. NEWS OF MIMIC WORLD.

M. B. Curtis appeared in "Sam'l of Posen" at the Macdonough last night and was greeted by a good-sized appreciative audience. The play is an old favorite that has not been seen here in several years, and Mr. Curtis and his ame company were wermly welcomed. In Sam'l of Posen, Mr. Curtis and his ame company were wermly welcomed. In Sam'l of Posen, Mr. Curtis and his mic company to Posen, Mr. Curtis as the shrewd, bushing Hebruw drummer, with unlimited assurance and endless good nature is as assuming as ever, in fact, he is even more so, for while the play in its outlines is the same as ever, the character of the drummer has been brought strictly up-to-date and low and diever business introduced. The play is certainly one of the most amusing comcluse ever written, and ample justice is done its strong points by Mr. Curtis one compuny. Miss Abhal De Mer in her original creation of ecleste, the adventuress, is as artistic in her work as ever, and duplicated her fromer triumphs in the role. She fairly shared the honors with her gifted husband, Mr. Curtis, Of the supporting company nothing but praise can be given.

The Play will be repeated tonight.

THE DEWEY.

So great has been the svecess of the Dewey's superb production of "Quo Vadisis" that Manager Stevens has decided to keep the play on mother week. So great is the demand for seats that from present indications the house will be sold out for each performance next week before the doors open. "Quo Vadis is undoubtedly the greatest historical play ever produced, and the enterpiese of the Lewey management in putting on such Lewey management in putting on such a very success with indications of popular actives of this theatre is worthy of presse.

FIELD OF LITERATURE.

"Bupperss Octavia," translat it form the German of Wilhelm Wahoth, by Mary J. Safford, he is a romance of the folia; the foliation of the foli peer, in that phase of her art at least of any living writer of fiction. There is a charming, albeit a most unusual, love story running through the book, and the story is pervaded with touches of fine satire in the analysis of character that show a wonderfully clear insight into the story is one that will delight every reader of fiction who can appreciate something better than the morbid and sensational stories that are so much in vogue. The book is published by D. Appleton & Co., New York, and is handsomely bound and printed.

This is a story of a Welsh homestead by Allen Raine, author of "Torn Sails."

A Welsh Singer," "By Berwen Banks," etc. The hero of the story is a young 'Yelsh sailor, whom it does one good to know, so manly, wholesome and brave is he. The heroine is a charming girt, struggle for existence in a new world, are full of color, and offer dramatic possibilities that are never found in the dives of people of a tess passionate temperament. The story deals with a young Italian who comes to New York to work for his uncle, a prosperous grocer. One day a superbly beautiful Italian girl comes into the store and with her the impressionable and ardent youth falls madly in love. The girl, through her extraordinary beauty, is given a chance to sing at a local opera-house, and the young man's uncle, who is in the audience, also becomes infatuated with the dazzling creature. The complications and cross purposes that arise from this situation are woven by the author into a story of great interest. The book is published by D. Appleton & Co., New York, and is finely illustrated by Emil Pollak.

"Let There Be Light." by David Lubin, the well-known Sacramento merchant, is a book that will find many renders among those earnest souls who are saeking a solution of the tremendous problems in sociology and economics that must soon be dealt with for good or fil. Mr. Lubin has long been known as an earnest thinker on these subjects and his writings have attracted much attention. In his latest book he has formulated a philosophy that embraces his views on both economics and religion, and which is presented in a clear and convincing style. The aim of the book is best expressed in the author's own words. It is "the story of a workingmen's club, its search for the causes of poverty and social mequality, its discussions and its plan for the amclioration of existing evils." As a result of the workingmen's investigations they come to the conclusion that the inequalities and injustice everywhere seen are caused by defects in the religious systems. They formulate their beliefs and give their most strenuous efforts to the propagation of their principles. Their plan for the regeneration of society includes a new church and an outline of a new social order. At first flush Mr. Lubin's theories seem radical and destructive, but closer study of his philosophy Shows that though com radical and destructive, but closer tudy of his philosophy snows that though
